A photograph of a tranquil spa or wellness center. The space is characterized by a series of white, rounded arches that create a sense of depth and openness. The floor is made of light-colored, rectangular stone tiles. On the left, a long, low white bench is positioned against a wall with tall, narrow, arched windows. A small wooden table with a rolled-up towel sits in front of the bench. In the center, a wooden bench with cushions is visible through an archway. To the right, a potted plant stands near a wall with a small arched niche. The overall atmosphere is warm and peaceful, with soft lighting and a neutral color palette.
